CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS AND PRESIDENT MAP OUT PLANS FOR SUMMER LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, March 11.—A legislative program for the new Congress was agreed upon by Congressional leaders and tentatively approved by President Harding today. It calls for the passage of the following major legislative bills:

- The emergency tariff bill.
- The Columbian treaty in the Senate.
- A complete revision of the tax laws.
- Passage of the army and navy appropriation bills.
- A brief summer recess.
- Permanent revision of the tariff laws.

In between the big bills will be sandwiched the minor bills. In addition a strong effort will be made to provide federal aid for maternity and educational work.

Some kind of a ban on immigration, probably similar to the measure which President Wilson vetoed, undoubtedly will be passed.

C. H. S. EXPECTS TO UNFURL PENNANT AT TONIGHT'S GAME

By Dick Leopold

This evening Clearfield High will play its last scheduled league game with the strong New Bethlehem High tossers. This game promises to be a tight contest from the initial toss up till the final whistle. Although the Clarion county team has been badly battered throughout the season, it has always put up a game fight and kept its opponents on their toes until the last moment of play.

Clearfield defeated New Bethlehem on the latter's floor 35 to 30; a burst of speed in the final five minutes of play turning the tide in favor of the Red and Black, while Brookville experienced still more difficulty in winning from the west stagers the final score being 29 to 25 in Brookville's favor. Although finishing on the distressing end of the score, these narrow margins of victory are evidence that the passers from New Bethlehem "are there" and coupled with the fact that it has won the last two games in succession from Reynoldsville and DuBois will give the visitors confidence and hope of turning the "trick on" the league leaders and they will enter the fray determined to win.

If Clearfield should lose this evening's contest, the winner of the Punksy-Brookville game will be tied with C. H. S. for the top rung and a play-off between the two leaders would result, but if Clearfield wins tonight the league championship will be handed to the local quintet and Captain Neff will lead his team to the Grove City College tourney to battle for higher honors with the other champion teams of the N. W. P. I. A. A. Leagues.

The championship series is conducted on an elimination basis, the teams being classified into four divisions. Clearfield will represent district No. 4.

The Red and Black passers will probably line up as usual, but several of the subs have been showing up well the last few days of practice, therefore some substitutions will possibly be made throughout the contest.

The game will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock, so be on hand early if you want to grab off a good seat, for this contest promises to draw a large crowd of enthusiasts who are "all set" to be present when the pennant unfolds over the Red and Black.

Virginia Sommerville, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is improving nicely.

Mrs. A. G. Peters, of Woodland, was shopping in town today.

START TO READ OUR CONTINUED STORY IN THIS EDITION

If you did not start that Peter B. Kyne story yesterday in The Progress be sure to do so before you live another hour. Look up yesterday's paper and start in. If you can't find yesterday's paper just read the following synopsis and get started.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—John Stewart Webster, mining engineer, after cleaning up a fortune in Death Valley, Calif., boards a train for the East. He befriends a young man, annoyed by a master, thoroughly disliking the "rest."

CHAPTER II.—At Denver Webster receives a letter from Billy Geary, his closest friend. Geary urges him to come to Substrante, Central America, to finance and develop a mining claim. He decides to go.

CHAPTER III.—Dolores Rugg, the young woman Webster befriended, and who has made a deep impression on him, as he has on her, is also on the way to Substrante.

LOCAL ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN WIVES AND SWEETHEARTS

The first "ladies night" of the recently organized Clearfield Rotary Club, held at the Dimeling Hotel last evening, proved to be a highly enjoyable affair and demonstrated that these local Rotarians make excellent hosts. In addition to the wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of the members a number of male guests also were privileged to enjoy the festivities.

The entertainment program was in the hands of a most efficient committee, headed by A. D. Bigler, and by reason of the efforts of this bunch of entertainers the fun was never allowed to lag for one minute. The Rotarians are some "musical bunch" and in addition to their many pleasing little songs, a quartet composed of Messrs. Fluck, Ammerman, Stewart and Ferguson furnished some "real" singing. "Prof." Bill Brown presided at the piano with his usual pep and elan.

The roll call of the members which was responded to by the chairman of the entertainment committee, was a real gem and the definitions or characteristic description of each member was particularly appropriate and fetching.

The bawling of "Mooley" added to the din, so even though you were not present you may be able to imagine what a fix the happy assemblage was in.

In addition to Dr. Ward Wilson's and George Zerfos' address of welcome, with the other regular features, Messrs. H. S. Whitman, Jr., T. L. Snyder and Dr. John W. Gordon responded to toasts on behalf of the guests.

About 100 were present and appeared to enjoy every minute of the evening. The excellent "beefsteak dinner" served by Mine Host McGinniss also added much to the success of the evening.

MAHAFFEY SCARED WHEN BIG POWDER MAGAZINE BLOWS

The people of the Mahaffey region were literally blown right out of their beds last night about 10 o'clock by an explosion which shook the entire neighborhood, rocked houses on their foundations and broke glass and rattled windows all over the town. Immediately following the "big noise" the streets of Mahaffey were filled by the excited populace, each man asking his neighbor what caused the commotion.

Dire things were imagined and the mayor was about ready to order the "home guards" mobilized when a Bell township citizen arrived in town with the story that the powder magazine of the E. Kelly mine, located about one and one half miles from town, in the direction of McGee's Mills, had exploded.

A rush was at once made for the scene, where a scene of utter destruction reigned. Where the powder house had been a huge hole had been dug in the ground, while debris from the building was scattered all over the country side.

An automobile and two mules were also sifted about over the landscape. The cause of the explosion or the exact amount of dynamite in the building when the let go occurred is unknown, but it is said to have been nearly 2,000 pounds.

Isabell Rogers was much surprised when fifteen of her schoolmates dropped in at her home after school Thursday afternoon in honor of her 12th birthday. All had a fine time with music, dancing and games.

If you are one of those to whom we sent a sample copy of The Progress yesterday, we hope that it pleased you and that you will subscribe regularly for it. We also hope that you read it from cover to cover, including the Peter B. Kyne story. The second installment of this delightful and appealing story is published today and if you wish to follow it thru to the finish do not fail to send in your subscription right away so that we can send you a Progress on Monday evening. We will send another free one Saturday.

GETTING CLOSER TO MEXICO IS HARDING PLAN AT PRESENT

Washington, March 11.—President Harding shortly will take action to establish diplomatic relations with Mexico. Several informal and purely unofficial exchanges have been made between representatives of President Harding and officials of the Oregon government. Information obtained by the administration is that Oregon is willing to go as far as public opinion in Mexico will permit to meet the terms of this government. Harding recognizes the difficulty of Oregon's position and is willing to make concessions so long as the fundamental question at issue is not affected. The appointment of R. D. Creager, of Brownsville, Tex., as ambassador to Mexico will not be announced until formal relations have been established. Harding's second cabinet meeting is to be held today.

PALMER'S RULING GIVES BREWERS A LITTLE HOPE RAY

Pittsburgh, March 11.—In line with breweries throughout the country western Pennsylvania establishments are considering the possibility of manufacturing real beer to be sold for medical purposes under Attorney General Palmer's recent ruling. Pittsburgh brewers are in New York conferring with other brewers on the subject. A meeting will be held here Monday to determine action. Nearly all breweries in this section are prepared to manufacture beer on short notice.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11.—The great Milwaukee breweries, practically closed since prohibition, have made no move to make beer with a "kick" as recently ruled by former Attorney General Palmer allowing "good beer" for medical purposes. Officials of the Schlitz and Pabst companies declared they would have to have more assurance that the manufacture and sale would not be interfered with than those given in Palmer's ruling before they start to make "good beer."

"BEAUTY DOCTOR" "BOBBY" BLAKE IS FINALLY FOUND

Agrees With Bradford, Pa., Justice of the Peace to Make Restitution to Those Who Plead Guilty.

$120 TO BE DIVIDED HERE

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned" or bamboozled into parting with her kale. At least that is the opinion of one "Bobby" Blake, who it will be remembered, dropped into Clearfield some eight or ten months ago and offered to remove pimples, warts, whiskers, wrinkles and other blemishes from the female face and figure for a proper and worth-while consideration, and with neatness and dispatch. The female of the species hereabouts has tastes, ideas and ideals, similar to those of woman, lovely woman, the world over and is just as prompt to grab at a chance to improve on nature, and therefore the newly arrived "beauty doctor" found easy picking as he circulated in and out of our homes.

The "beauty doctor" was no respecter of persons and separated rich and poor alike from their coin on her promise to restore youth, beauty and grace, regardless of whether it had ever been lost or no. But to make an end of unpleasant memories, we will just add that after "Bobby" had collected a "century note" or two, she departed from town clandestinely or surreptitiously. Then her dupes got busy and a warrant was issued by Squire Chorpenn on the averment of some ten or a dozen women who admitted they had been "done" out of a total of $120.

The "beauty doctor" was lost sight of until last week when she visited the home of a Bradford woman and in soliciting business remarked that she had treated a number of women in Clearfield. The woman formerly resided here, and also knew how the Clearfield women had been "treated" by the beauty expert. Word was sent to Clearfield as to the whereabouts of "Bobby" and Sheriff Gorman yesterday telegraphed the Bradford police to pick her up. The arrest was made and the beauty doctor saved herself further difficulty by putting up the $120 claimed by her Clearfield victims. The local woman who has been on Mrs. Blake's trail ever since she left Clearfield, and who is responsible for getting the money back, was notified and will be delegated to divide the recovered funds among the persons legally entitled thereto. Meanwhile a lot of other local victims are now kicking themselves because they didn't report their losses at the time information was made. They will get no return.

HESS—NELSON

Walter L. Hess and Miss Verna D. Nelson, both of Clearfield, were married yesterday morning at the West Side Methodist parsonage by the Rev. C. C. Shively, pastor. After a brief honeymoon trip the newlyweds will reside in Clearfield.

The Progress has printed bigger papers than it printed yesterday but never so many in one edition. Yesterday's was of ten pages and over 5,400 were printed. A little information may be interesting. The Progress is printed from a roll of paper 70 inches wide, almost six feet. It goes through the press in a long sheet right from the roll. To print yesterday's edition we ran, by actual measurement, three miles and 14 feet of paper through the press. Placed end to end the pages would stretch out over a distance of nine miles and 3,105 feet, or farther than Bigler with enough paper left to paper Brack Albert's barn. The big press started on its job at 4 o'clock and before 6 its job was done and all the papers dispatched from the Progress office.

LESLIE STEWART CALLED TO REWARD THIS MORNING

Ex-County Treasurer Leslie Stewart, one of Clearfield's leading citizens and one of the best known business men in Clearfield county, passed away at his home on Pine street at 5:30 o'clock this morning, aged 55 years.

The cause of death was Bright's disease, from which the deceased had been suffering for several years. Several weeks ago, accompanied by his wife, he made a trip to Battle Creek, Mich., in the hope of getting relief, but the disease had progressed beyond reach of medical skill and he returned home to await the end.

He is survived by his widow, four sons and three daughters.

The funeral will be held from the Stewart home on Pine street Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Hillcrest cemetery.

Proper obituary notice tomorrow.

METEOR REPORTED TO HAVE FALLEN AT BROCKWAYVILLE

The residents of Brockwayville were quite severely shocked last evening at about 10 o'clock when a meteorite fell, near their city. A reported heavy object was over three feet in diameter and was a kind of rock formation. The shock was felt for several miles around, and those residing in Brockwayville hurried to the scene as quickly as possible. Upon arrival, they say that it was red hot and was burning and had buried itself four or five feet in the ground. It fell about a quarter of a mile from Brockwayville.

It is very rarely that such an object falls from the heavens, so as was expected, a great deal of commotion was caused by it among the nearby residents. This is the first one that is known to have fallen in this section for many years.

NEW SECRETARY OF LABOR FACED WITH TWO BIG STRIKES

Washington, March 11.—Just one week after taking office Secretary of Labor J. J. Davis was faced with the possibility of two of the biggest strikes the government has ever had to deal with. The packing house employees are taking a strike vote because of the wage cut by their employers. Labor leaders are not in favor of a strike at this time but it looks as if the men will strike.

Another is the railroad case. Whether this will include the four big railroad brotherhoods, the conductors, firemen, engineers and trainmen is not certain, but the smaller crafts formed into ten unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor would tie up the railroads.

Davis planned to bring up the labor troubles in the cabinet meeting today.

CLARA SMITH AND JURORS VISIT THE SCENES OF CRIME

Roving Court Finds Squalid Room Where Millionaire Spent Greater Part of Life With His Protege.

MURDER SCENE ENACTED

By Carl Victor Little

Ardmore, Okla., March 11.—Court opened today in Jake L. Hamon's dingy "murder suite" in the second rate Rambol Hotel. Clara Smith Hamon went back to the scene where a bullet ended the career of the powerful man. This time she was in the custody of Sheriff Garrett. He had a firing arm in each pocket. Twelve silent men accompanied her. They were the jurors who will hear the evidence in her trial for Hamon's murder. Counsel for the defense and prosecution went also. Clara was to enact the losing incidents of Hamon's life that was ended by a bullet last November. She was taken to rooms 8 and 29 after an agreement had been reached between attorneys for both sides. They want the jury to see how the furniture lay and to hear Clara's version of Hamon's death. The crowd wandered through the lobby and then went upstairs to the second floor. The wall paper was dirty and torn. The furniture was shabby and made of cheap wood, the carpet was faded and worn. The sun light came through the faded and worn blinds. There were no chandeliers in the room, an electric light bulb swung carelessly from the low ceiling. A worn spread covered each bed. This was the lowly hotel where millionaire Jake Hamon elected to spend the best years of his life with his pretty protege. It was just about as when he and Clara left it.

Ardmore, Okla., March 11.—Clara Smith Hamon faced her accuser today when the state presented its case against her. Prince Freeling, the prosecutor, took the jury to the scene to prove her guilt of murdering Jake L. Hamon. Freeling said Clara Smith followed Hamon to Ardmore in 1913 and became his stenographer. "They began to live together as man and wife," he declared. "Hamon left his wife and child in Lawton. The life of Clara and Hamon was continued in open adultery. At one time Mrs. Hamon went to their room. She found their beds unoccupied. Hamon sent his way away. Many trips were taken by Hamon and the defendant. He was all the expenses. He sent her to school. The defendant was jealous of Mrs. Hamon. Hamon and Clara had quarrels, usually the result of an illicit love affair. In 1917 Hamon sent an officer to his apartments to get some papers. The officer found the defendant with a revolver but the officer secured the papers. Hamon then went to Chicago later returning to Ardmore with his little daughter and Mrs. Hamon. Mrs. Hamon found lingerie of the defendant in her husband's room. Mrs. Hamon left. Then Hamon became powerful in politics. He then realized he must change his way of living. He declared he would take his family back and join the church. Immediately after the November election when Hamon was put into power the defendant purchased a pistol at a hardware store in Oklahoma City. On November 21 Hamon met some friends in his office. The telephone rang in his office. He tried to break off communication several times. He took several drinks. About 6 o'clock, saying he would be back later, he went across the street to his rooms in the Rambol Hotel. That was the last seen of him."

IMPORTANT CASE ON RAIL RATES BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Washington, March 11.—The most important railroad rate case before the court in the last decade was to be argued before the supreme court here today. It represents the united attack of 42 states upon the section of the Esch-Cummins act under which the inter-state commerce commission is given the authority to increase intrastate as well as interstate rates. It was under this section that the intrastate rates were increased in all states and the decision in the case was brought by the Wisconsin state railroad committee to determine whether these additional charges will stand.

Reserve Strength

IDLE freight cars in the United States now number 423,000, and more than 3,500 locomotives are stored. The carrying capacity of this idle equipment is greater than all the freight equipment of the railroads of any foreign country.

Only six months ago there was a shortage of 146,000 cars.

These idle cars and engines mean that an investment of more than $600,000,000 is producing nothing.

But this heavy investment in equipment and facilities—greatly in excess of the need in times of light traffic—must be made by the railroads in order that they may have a reserve to draw upon when the tide of traffic rises. Even with this costly but necessary insurance, a car shortage is inevitable at the peak of an industrial boom.

Idle cars now are a visible guarantee of preparedness for the rising tide of industry.

The well-known policy of the New York Central Lines has long been to provide as large a transportation reserve as can be safely carried through periods of slack business.

This reserve strength is insurance for American industry.

Street Commissioner Dale had a team and men at work, yesterday, hauling ashes into street chuck holes and also on bad places on side streets.

The funeral of David C. Henchberger was held today. The body and funeral party arrived on the 12 o'clock B., R. & P. train and proceeded to Oak Hill cemetery, where they were met by a delegation of Odd Fellows and G. A. R. men.

Mrs. Catherine Thompson, the oldest female resident in this town, and perhaps in the county, had the misfortune to fall down a stairway, Monday. It was miraculous that the aged woman was not seriously injured, but she only sustained some minor bruises about the body. She was pretty sore and stiff for several days, but at present is suffering no very ill effects from her fall.

The Free-Westinghouse ELECTRIC SEWING MACHINE

Electrically operated—at any speed
—with a motor that is BUILT INTO it.

A Treat For Women Who Sew

NEXT week this store is going to give special attention to women who sew. An expert, from the Free Sewing Machine factory, will be here, and you are cordially invited to come in and see the really marvelous sewing machine which he is demonstrating. You'll find it quite worth while—and you'll be glad you came.

We believe the Free-Westinghouse to be a better sewing machine than any which hasn't its exclusive features of bobbin movement, tension regulation and other advantages.

Also it's a really electric machine—because the motor is built-in, not hooked on. It will run as slowly as you want it to, or as fast as 800 stitches—perfect stitches—a minute.

And when not opened for sewing, it's a well designed, good looking desk or serving table. It's useful at all time. Easy payments—and your old machine can apply on a new one.

ODDS AND ENDS
AND THINGS

By "Skinney"

Some time ago The Progress printed a story from the pen of John M. Bain, the Second ward "poultry king" in which that gentleman detailed the enormous egg yield of his flock of fifty hens. Since that time his hens have increased to such an extent that on Monday evening last Mrs. Bain, in the absence of her husband, went out to one pen where they kept seventeen hens and gathered twenty-five eggs as the day's yield. Bain came home that evening and his wife in detailing the domestic happenings during his absence, mentioned the big egg yield from this pen. The "poultry king" listened attentively and then asked what was done with the eggs. Mrs. Bain said she had sold them Monday evening for 50 cents per dozen. "That was entirely too cheap, Mother," remarked Bain, "because I paid Charley Hatford $2.50 for 15 of those eggs from his prize winning Black Leghorns and had a hen sitting on them for the past week."

Now some of Bain's rival poultry and egg producers say that is the way he gets his big egg yield; buys the eggs and "plants" them in the hen coop and counts them when his wife gathers them.

Some of our Democratic postmaster friends will no doubt be of the same disposition as the colored janitor at the Denver postoffice building who was recently fired by the head janitor for failure to function properly or as energetically as his chief thought was his due. The case continued to repeat at the building each morning and to get rid of him he was finally arrested for loitering. When brought before the police court judge here was his explanation:

"Well, Judge, ummest! dat Ah is a government employe an' course like all government hired haws, Ah is under the civil servants' act. De haid jan' for dege tell me dat my work is unsatisfactory an' tried to give me the air. But Ah won't until I gets word from President Wilson himself. De president don't hire me, ah' it's up to de president to fire me if'n he didn't want me to work fo' de Denver postoffice no more, yezzi indeed. Ain't no fool jan' for gonin fire me from no civil servants' job."

Total Cost of World War is $177,000,000,000

The great cost of the World War exceeds the enormous aggregate of $177,000,000,000, according to figures compiled under the direction of Senator Spencer. The credit indemnity amounts to $38,000,000,000. This leaves a total loss, distributed among the participating nations of $139,000,000,000.

Saying the figures had been obtained from various authentic sources and carefully compiled, Mr. Spencer presented his resume of the World War to the Senate. He requested that it be printed in the Congressional Record.

The compilation submitted by Senator Spencer brings the World War account up to January 1, 1921. It includes the total military cost of the great conflict, the civilian cost and damage, relief contributions, loans and credits extended, estimated pension and insurance to be paid. It also includes indemnity paid and to be paid by Germany under provisions of the treaty and the net financial loss to each nation with credit for indemnity allowed and as matters now stand, with inter-loans and interest unpaid. He submits this table of gross cost, credit indemnity and final loss given in order:

United States, $14,173,948,225; $2,300,000,000; $11,873,948,225.
Great Britain, $31,052,634,000; $9,850,000,000; $41,292,634,000.
France, $54,272,915,000; $16,000,000,000; $38,272,915,000.
Italy, $18,030,847,000; $3,500,000,000; $21,530,847,000.
Belgium, $8,174,731,000; $5,700,000,000; $2,174,731,000.
China, $565,873,095; $100,000,000; $465,873,095.
Japan, $18,618,000; $250,000,000; $231,818,000.
Total, $177,402,249,225; $37,700,000,000; $139,702,249,225.

President Harding is strong for Democratic sympathy. He had all the usual pomp and ceremony cut out of the inauguration and now the news dispatches tell us he is getting his daily recreation on a $200,000 private golf course.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Blair Carr at the home of Mrs. Carr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Carson, of West Decatur. The little one was named Betty Lillian.

Mood of Spring

Smart
Accessories to Personalize
the Costume

COSTUME charm and individually become an intense living atmosphere surrounding milady when discrimination plays a part in the selection of the many smart new accessories for the Spring of 1921.

Gloves

Prevalence of the short or flowing three-quarter length sleeve is the cause for the long sleeve remaining in favor. To match the smart grey footwear are lovely styles in fine kid, chamoise and silk. Mode, tan, beige and white are other favored shades. Fancy effects are most charming and unusual.

Neckwear

Clever beyond words are the new gilets of brocade, the eyelet vestees, the lace collars and every other bit of the new Neckwear infinitely feminine in every dainty exquisite detail. High collars, low collars and Peter Pan collars, one finds them in every conceivable combination of color, fabric and style. They add a most modern touch to last Spring's clothes, too.

Veiling

Feminine subtlety lurks in every filmy mesh of the new Veilings. Sheitland, Chantilly, fillet and octagonal meshes, chenille dotted and other Veilings in all the desired shades of Spring are daily receiving the attention of women who appreciate the smartness and verve the Veil adds to the simplest of costumes.

Wardrobes for Children

Spring marks an epoch in small Tommy's and wee Betty's clothes career. Mother must be ready with new tub things—both outer and under—for the first warm days. It is interesting to see how new Spring styles are reflected even in apparel for tiny ones. One cannot select their Spring requirements too soon with warm days expected momentarily. Low prices encourage buying in quantities.

WONDERFULLY inspiring are the exquisite new modes for Spring, the fabrics and trimmings and prices which are making their initial appearance during our Spring Showing. The range in assortment, beauty of style and completeness of every costume detail are results of the Store's ceaseless efforts to serve its patrons in every regard. Prices this season make a joyous event of your Easter buying. The tension is past and every woman may take a genuine interest in the modes of Spring.

The Frocks
of Spring

Wherever milady's errand fancy may lead her this Spring there are Frocks to suit the period. Directoire, Russian, moyen age, princess and Spanish are the influences most evident in new frocks. Slim straight lines predominate in cloth models for street, while more bouffant styles are found in afternoon modes. Embroidery, eyelet work with underlays of bright colors, feather holsters and other novelties in making the new frocks creations of much charm.

The Hats
of Spring

Directoire modes make their presence felt in the Exposition Millinery by the introduction of the poke bonnet. The Russian tiara turban with its high peak is found fashioned of draped silk of exotic design. Cellophane combined with lovely novelty braids, sipper, tagal, visca, hemp and milan straws are already being used in quantity. Flowers of every size, kind and color are everywhere seen. Feathers, smart ornaments and ribbons trim other models designed for milady's use from morning till sunset.

Spring Suits Reflect Many Influences

Tasseled sashes gaily swinging are but one bit of evidence of the spontaneity of new Spring Suits. Box coats, semi-tailored and Directoire styles, Russian blouses with cavalierish capes, and mandarin coats are a few of the most prominent influences felt in the new modes. Pique twill, twill cord, piquette and tricotine in beige, navy and grey are desired colors. Color is introduced in the form of gay gilets, sashes and touches of embroidery. Inspection of the many smart styles displayed at this store will disclose the desirability of buying the Spring Suit early and getting a full measure of pleasure from it. From $25 to $70.

Smart Wraps to Ward Off Spring Winds

Beauty abounds in the new Wraps and it would seem that designers had tried to make them fitting complements to the smart frocks which they accompany. Capes and Wraps along voluminous lines predominate, large of sleeve and becoming of collar. Embroidery, fringe, cording, use of contrasting fabric and kid are trimmings most felt. Very specialized Wraps for afternoon, for street, motoring and for sports are much in evidence as well as the Coat which because of its conservative lines serves many purposes with great ability. The beige grey and blue tones in marvella, orlando, velours and duvetyne are most popular. From $15 to $70.

New Spring
Fabrics Showing
Fashion's
Trend

AFTER a glance around the Fabric Section one has but to close her eyes to visualize the hosts of lovely things simply waiting to be made by clever seamstresses. But this season one does not have to close her eyes because of high prices.

Silks

Vivid Printed Silks find a host of admirers this season when simple styles make beauty of fabric a requisite. Greatly in demand, however, is Cotton Crepe which is put to every conceivable use. Novelty Sports Silks and Taffetas are shown in lovely shades for Spring and Summer uses. To see them is to make plans for Summer's varied needs as well as Spring's.

Cottons

Tab Frocks time seems just around the corner when one gazes upon the quantities of sheer Organdies, dainty white stuffs of all kinds, gay Dimities, Voiles and delightfully sprightly imported Gingham. Early selections and an early start on the Spring sewing is suggested. Children's school needs for tabables daily grow more insistent. The sight of these pretty stuffs will inspire many a machine to whirr.

Hosiery

With skirts so brief and slippers so fascinating no woman is neglecting to supply herself with plenty of the new Hosiery. Lace clocks grow more surprising and unusual. Embroidery and lace effects reign on while very sheer plain Hosiery occupies enviable popularity. In all the new grey and other street shades. Figure 25.

FARMERS AND READJUSTMENT

Every trade or business is having to face readjustment to a greater or less degree. Representatives of each trade may be prone to feel that theirs is the one suffering most. The attention of the nation is centered more or less on the prospects confronting farmers. The farmers themselves state that their products are the first to come down in price. That they have come down cannot be denied. From January 1st 1919 to January 1st 1921 the corn crop lost all that they had gained during the participation of the United States in the World War, and more than one-half as much again. The loss on the corn crop of 1920 more than exceeded the grain of the preceding three years. The difference in value of the staple farm products from July 1, 1920 to January 1, 1921, has been estimated to be at least five billion dollars. With these figures in mind, it can be seen that the farmers are having to undergo their full share of the readjustment process. One of the uncertainties which makes it harder for them to readjust intelligently is the lack of a definite national policy. There is no settled opinion as to tariffs and exchange relations with other countries. If these things were definite, farmers in general would know better how to estimate the market regarding wool, hides, meat, cotton, cereal crops and other staples that are needed all over the world.

Pending the adoption of such a policy farmers are forced to adopt retrenchment to a greater or less degree. Production expenses much be kept down. The purchasing power of a bushel of corn, or a bushel of wheat, or of a fat hog is greatly curtailed.

Dr. H. C. Taylor, chief of the office of Farm Management and Farm Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, states that in this connection the starting point in readjustments of any business is a knowledge of the facts relating to that business, and that whatever use costs may be in establishing fair prices their use as a basis of sufficient farm organizations should at this time be stressed. There was probably never a time when the costs of production should be as definitely known as now. That is within the power of the producer to control to a large extent while the selling price may not be. Another suggestion made by Dr. Taylor is that of repairing old machinery. It might also be well for farmers and others to look to the costs of horses versus other power. Machinery, oil, fuel and other repairs will need to be reduced very materially if they can compete with horses as a source of power on an economical basis. It will also be necessary for farmers to watch very carefully the purchase price of feeds, fertilizers and other such supplies. Many farmers in this county have been enabled to save from $5 to $10 per ton on fertilizer by watching the markets closely. As in other industries it will also be necessary to adjust farm wages. This is not a pleasant adjustment to all concerned and yet it will be a necessity if production is to be maintained. All authorities agree that there is no panacea for the seeming economic dilemmas of the present. So far as the country is concerned, however, the farmers can be depended upon to assume their share of responsibility. They are in many cases not only owners and managers, but also operators and laborers, thus making an alloy of great strength and good wearing qualities in the makeup of the nation. They are at a certain disadvantage because they turn their money over very slowly; they have definite acreages without knowing in advance what the result in bushels; they buy animals and feed grain without knowing in advance what that resulting beef or pork will bring on the market. One thing the farmer is doing, which cannot be said without modification of all other industries, is that he is going ahead without any marked decrease in activities. He is still sowing and reaping; he is still working the same number of hours and is placing faith in his fellow countrymen on the consuming market, that they will return to him a fair wage, whatever that wage may be. It is this spirit of consistent industry that makes him a valuable citizen.

BUSINESS EFFICIENCY

Under today's new conditions, those having business interests require a broad grasp of both industrial and financial affairs—need foresight and quick adaptation.

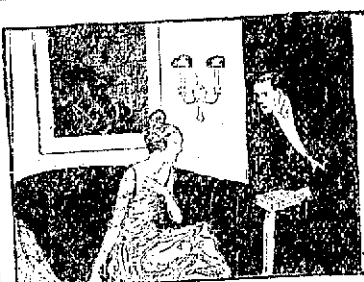

Business, extending beyond smooth-worn channels, calls for careful guidance, and with his own best knowledge the business man may well combine that of the Banker.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE

Mason Says If Everyone Knew
As Much About Tanlac As He Does, Drug Stores Could Not Supply the Demand.

"I would like to go from house to house and tell them what I know of Tanlac will do," said William W. Mason, 1924 McClellan St., Philadelphia, Penn., a motorman for the Rapid Transit Co. on the Hog Island line.

"If everyone knew the truth about this grand medicine like I do the drug stores wouldn't be able to supply the demand. It beats anything I ever saw. I hadn't been myself for three years, was always ailing and out of sorts generally. My stomach was weak and I ate just enough to keep going. Still I suffered from cramps and heartburn. I also had dizzy spells, racking pains all thru my body made me feel miserable all the time and I suffered so much it soured my disposition and I became a regular old grouch, which wasn't natural for me at all.

"It didn't take Tanlac long to tone up my stomach and drive every pain out of my body. It will always be a wonder to me how it was done, but I know it was done and that's enough for me. I am like a new man now, and never felt better in my life. There isn't a healthier or more cheerful man in Philadelphia today than I am since Tanlac straightened out my troubles. It's got the world beat."

Tanlac is sold by all leading druggists everywhere.

Gave Them What They Asket For.
Dencons seeking ministers for their churches often applied to Mr. Spurgeon, famous English pulpit orator. One asked him to send a student who could "fill the chapel," and got an answer saying that Mr. Spurgeon had not one big enough, but he thought he could send one who might fill the pulpit. A reply came that that was really what they wanted, and a minister was accordingly sent. It was Mr. Whale.

scarcely out of his swaddling clothes? Jack Webster, surely you aren't going to throw yourself away—give up the sure thing I offer you—to join Billy Geary in Sobranie and finance a wilder prospect without a certificate of title attached. Be reasonable. What did you wire that confounded boy?"

"That I was coming."

"Cable him you've changed your mind. We'll send him some money to come home, and you can give him a good job under you. I'll O. K. the voucher and charge it to your personal expense account."

"That's nice of you, old sport, and I thank you kindly. I'll talk to Billy when I arrive in Buenaventura, and if the prospect doesn't look good to me, I'll argue him out of it and we'll come home. Let me go. I might come back. But I must go. I want to see Billy."

"You just said a minute ago you'd turned the forty-year post," Jerome warned him. "And you're now going to lose a year or two more in which you might better be engaged laying up a foundation of independence for your old age. For Heaven's sake, man, don't be a fool."

"Oh, but I will be a fool," John Stuart Webster answered; and possibly, by this time, the reader has begun to understand the potency of his middle name—the Scotch are notoriously pig-headed, and Mr. Webster had just enough oatmeal in his blood to have come by that center fire name honestly. "And you, you poor old horse, you could not possibly understand why, if you lived to be a million years old."

He got up from his chair to the full height of his six-foot-one, and stretched 190 pounds of bone and muscle.

"And so I shall go to Sobranie and lose all of this all-important money, shall I?" he jeered. "Then by all the gods of the Open Country, I hope I may. Dad burn you, Neddy, I'm not a Methuselah. I want some fun in life. I want to fight and be broke and go hungry and then make money for the love of making it and spending it, and I want to live a long time yet. I want to see the mirage across the sagebrush and hear it whisper: 'Hither, John Stuart Webster! Hither, you fool, and I'll hornswozzle you again, as in an older day I hornswozzled you before.'"

Jerome shook his white thatch hopelessly.

"I thought you were a great mining engineer, John," he said sadly. "but you're not. You're a poet. You do not seem to care for money."

"Well," Webster retorted humorously, "it isn't exactly what you might term a ruling passion. I like to make it, but there's more fun spending it. I've made $100,000, and now I want to go blow it—and I'm going to. Do not try to argue with me. I'm a lunatic and I will have my way. If I didn't go tearing off to Sobranie and John forces with Bill Geary, there to play the game, red or black, I'd feel as if I had done something low and mean and small. The boy's appealed to me, and I have made my answer. If I come back alive but broke, you know in your heart you'll give me the best job you have."

"You win," poor Jerome admitted. "Hold the job open 30 days. At the end of that period I'll give you a definite answer, Neddy."

"I sniff excitement and adventure and profit in Sobranie and I've just got to look-see. I'm like an old burro staked out knee-deep in alfalfa just now. I won't take kindly to the pack."

"And like an old burro you won't be happy until you've sneaked through a hole in the fence to get out into a stubble-field and starve." Jerome swore half-heartedly and pronounced the little proverb that life is just one blank thing after the other—an inchoate mass of liver and disappointment.

"Do you find it so?" Webster queried sympathetically.

Suspecting that he was being twitted, Jerome looked up sharply, prepared to wither Webster with that glance. But no, the man was absolutely serious, whereupon Jerome realized the futility of further argument and gave John Stuart Webster up for a total loss. Still, he could not help smiling as he reflected how Webster had planned a year of quiet enjoyment and Fate had granted him one brief evening. He marvelled that Webster could be so light-hearted and contented under the circumstances.

Webster read his thoughts. "Good-bye, old man," he said, and extended his hand. "Don't worry about me. Allah is always kind to fools, my friend's sorrow is never their portion. In answering Billy's call I have a feeling that I am answering the call of a great adventure."

He did not know how truly he spoke of course, but if he had, that knowledge would not have changed his answer.

"So Billy loves that dear Sobranie, eh?" he said with abysmal sarcasm. "Jack Webster, I won't to a sane man and be cabled accordingly. I was in this same little Buenaventura once. I was there for three days, and I wouldn't have been there three minutes if I could have caught a steamer out sooner. Of all the miserable, squally, worthless, ornery, stinking holes on the face of God's green foot-stool, Sobranie is the worst—if one may judge it by its capital city. Are you going to chase off to this God-forsaken hole at the behest of a girl?

Jerome finished reading this remarkable communication; then with infinite amusement he regarded John Stuart Webster over the tops of his glasses as one who examines a new and interesting species of bug.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

We do not suppose that there is one farmer in Clearfield county who knows anything about buckwheat, any more than that he raises some, has it made into flour and eats it after it is made into cakes. We have been asked more than 50 times if we knew anything about it. We do, and we are going to tell you in the Curwensville letter so that you will know also and the American encyclopedia tells us the story:

"Buckwheat, the seeds of various species of Fago-pyrum, chiefly F. esculentum, a herbaceous plant, native of Central Asia, but cultivated in Europe on account of its seeds. The seeds, as enclosed in their dark brown tough rind, are three sided in form, with sharp angles, similar in shape to beech mast, whence their name from the German Buchweizen, buckwheat. Buckwheat is grown in Great Britain only to supply food for pheasants and to feed poultry, which devour the seeds with avidity. In the northern countries of Europe, however, the seeds are employed as human food, chiefly in the form of cakes, which when baked thin have an agreeable taste. The meal of buckwheat is also baked into crumpets, as a favorite dainty among Dutch children, and in the Russian army buckwheat groats are served out as a part of a soldier's rations, which they cook with butter, tallow or hemp-seed oil. Buckwheat is also used as food in the United States, and the Hindus it is eaten on 'fast' or fast days, being one of the phalaris or lawful food for cattle. The hard sharp angular rind must first be removed. As compared with the principal cereal grains, buckwheat is poor in nitrogenous substances and fat; but the rapidity and ease with which it can be grown render it a fit crop for very poor, badly tilled ground. According to Payson it contains nitrogenous matter 13.10, per cent, starch 64.90, fat 3.00, water 13.00, cellulose and ash 6.00."

There seems to be a considerable division of opinion among Curwensville citizens at present relative to the route the state highway should be built, via Grampian or via the Erie pike to DuBois. It is a bad time to start dissension, and the fact of the matter, in a nutshell, is this: If both factions cannot agree, and work both ends of the string for different routes, there will be no state road built in this end of the county at all this year. This information we gleaned yesterday from a gentleman who is in close touch with the matter. Going over the plans of both routes carefully, we can see no particular advantage in building the road up the creek at this time. The advantage to be derived is that the Erie road route would have over the via Grampian is that it is a few miles shorter and has a slight less grade per mile, but a lot less people to use the road between Curwensville and Grampian than the latter route. Should a good road be built via Grampian this season, it is more than probable it would be extended on up the river to Burnside by another year. There is another reason why Curwensville people should be one voice in advocating the Grampian route, instead of that going up the creek, and that is it would eliminate the dangerous railroad crossing, both of the Pennsylvania railroad on this side of the creek at the bridge, and the B. R. & P. crossing at the foot of Grampian road. The bridge, which crosses the creek is almost worn out and hardly fit to stand up under an ordinary tonnage load being drawn over it. It will soon have to be replaced by a new structure. We understand that as soon as work is actually commenced on the Grampian route the county commissioners will replace the old bridge with a new and substantial one. Another merchant voiced the sentiment that he could not see wherein Curwensville tradesmen could lose anything by the road going through to Grampian, but on the other hand he was of the opinion that more trade would be brought to the town than ever before. Several other merchants expressed the same opinion.

Are you going to chase off to this God-forsaken hole at the behest of a girl?

Jerome finished reading this remarkable communication; then with infinite amusement he regarded John Stuart Webster over the tops of his glasses as one who examines a new and interesting species of bug.

"So Billy loves that dear Sobranie, eh?" he said with abysmal sarcasm. "Jack Webster, I won't to a sane man and be cabled accordingly. I was in this same little Buenaventura once. Every day one hears the query "Where can I rent a house?" It sounds like a cry of distress coming out of the wilderness, and almost an appeal from suffering humanity. Curwensville men, who have money, stand around and ask "why don't the town grow larger?" A most simple question, indeed, when they know the reason within themselves. They will not venture the outlay of a single dollar unless they can see clearly that it will return to them 600-fold. They are content to sit tight and watch others do something for the town's upbuilding and from which they figure on deriving a profit without risking a dollar of their own. There are many men in Curwensville today who have the town's interest and growth at heart, had they the means to go ahead and erect houses for rental, and thereby supply people with a place of shelter who desire to come here and reside permanently. Curwensville had a wealthy resident at one time whose boast was that "he would rather be a big man in a little town, than a little man in a big town." Probably some of the town's rich men are thinking the same thought today, hence the lack of dwelling houses.

SEED POTATOES

The warm weather during the past few days has caused most of us to get out our "Seed Catalogues" and decide on the seed we are going to plant this coming spring. Most of us have to depend on the seed houses for our garden seeds, but seldom have to go further than our cellars for our seed potatoes. It has been the custom among the majority of the potato growers, to select their seeds from the cellars for planting the coming year. In many cases this is all right, especially if the potatoes are free from disease before they are placed in storage, but a better way would have been to select them from the field before digging them. It has been further proven through experimentation, that the planting of disease-free seeds, has increased the yield per acre at the rate of 74 bushels over the entire state, while spraying to overcome the foliage disease has also increased the yield thirty-three and one third per cent over the entire state, where spraying was done.

The Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg, Penna. State College cooperating, inspected over 1000 acres of potatoes during last summer and fall and from these fields, were selected certain ones which were free of disease and showed vigorous plant growth and vitality. These were recommended for seed and are being sold for that purpose to the farmers in the state as long as they last. Our Local Farm Bureau has made arrangements for securing 400 or 500 bushels of this seed, nearly all of this amount has been spoken for, at a delivered price of about $2 per bushel. The farmers of the county are becoming to realize the importance of good seed and spraying.

This county is adapted to potato growing and there is no reason why we should not grow seed of this kind not only for our own use but for sale to other farmers, at a price, two or three times what could be obtained in the local markets.

Test Seed Corn

All seed corn should be tested for Spring planting. March is a good time in which to make the test. The most satisfactory way is to test four to six kernels from each ear. The requirements for germination are moisture, warmth and air. The order of temperature of the living room is about right if it does not get below 50 at night. A shallow box filled with water and tacked off into numbered squares with twine makes a good germinator. The county agent will give further details.

Strong Chicks

Care should be taken not to force the breeding hens too much at this time of the year. Strong, liveable chicks of high vitality are more to be desired than a few extra eggs.

Machinery Repairs

One Pennsylvania farm bureau has set aside the week of March 14 as "Farm Implement Repair Week." In that time farmers will make it a point to go over every piece of machinery on the place and put it in working order ready for Spring work. They realize the value of old implements and their example is a good one to follow.

Value of a Good Sire

A well-bred sire can do more to increase the production of your dairy herd than any other one factor except feed. In two generations the sire will be 75 per cent of the herd. Now is the time to buy such a sire.

Study Gardening

The older boys and girls on the farm should be encouraged to become interested in special phases of farm life. At this time of year enrollment in the free home study course of nine lessons in vegetable gardening offered by the State College school of agriculture, should prove exceptionally attractive. They can be completed in a few weeks.

Why Rheumatism Comes With Cold Weather

(By Valentine Mott Pierce, M. D.)

A close connection exists between these two—cold weather and rheumatism. Every one has recognized the difference in the appearance of their water as soon as it gets cold; there is often a copious sediment of "brick-dust."

Several causes may lead up to an accumulation of uric acid in the system, which, in turn, causes backache, rheumatism or gout, or crampy joints, swollen fingers, or painful joints.

At all such times persons should drink copiously of hot water, say, a pint morning and night, and take "Anuric" three or four times a day. This "Anuric" (anti-uric acid) comes in tablet form and can be had at almost any drug store. It dissolves the uric acid in the system and carries it outward.

No mushy love story here, but a seventy-mile-a-minute railroad whiz-bang, and yet there is the inspiration of true love, which makes the drama vrey human.

We're Ready With EASTER OXFORDS

Footwear That Will Give That Finishing Touch to Your Easter Finery.

When the make of your Easter wardrobe is being considered there comes the question, "Where Shall I Get My Oxfords?" And if you could peep into some of the boxes on the shelves of our shoe section the question would be answered by a resounding "Ross & Woods!"

Truly, Madam, we have never shown prettier Easter Oxfords than these that we're now showing. Beautiful lasts that will make your feet look neat and trim—oxfords that would be truly fit to join even New York's Fifth Avenue Easter parade.

And we have a fitting service that is unsurpassed. Frankly we'd rather lose a sale than give you a misfit?

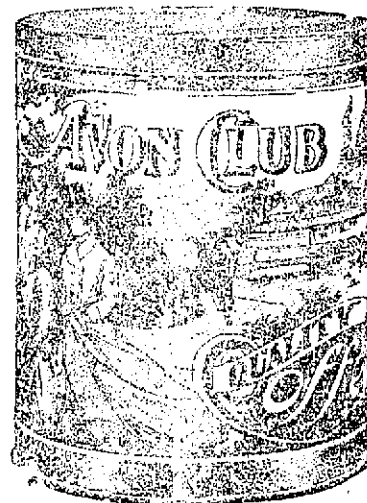

May we look for you in?

Mrs. C. W. Lerch, West Market street, left today for Pittsburgh to visit friends and relatives.

Insect Pests Threaten Crops.
The Japanese beetle, brought in about the same time as the peach moth, has already gained such firm foothold that, in view of its habits and prolonged flight, it is probably incapable of extermination and may ultimately overspread the United States. Another foreign pest in comparatively recent years is the European corn borer. Infestations have been discovered in several states, and local quarantines by the federal horticultural board have been instituted to prevent the spread to the corn belt.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!
Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole. Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister. Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).
